A POPULAR SUBSCRIPTION

To Raise Money for Beautifying the Grounds of BELLEFONTE ACADEMY

Which Will Celebrate its One Hundredth Anniversary in June 1905—Patrons, Friends, Students Past and Present Asked to Contribute.

SUBSCRIPTION COLUMN OPENS FEB. 1

Next June the historic old Bellefonte Academy will celebrate its one hundredth anniveresary in a manner fitting an institution that has won such distinction in the field of education as has the Academy. It is the purpose of those in charge to make this the greatest event of the kind that over transpired in Bellefonte. Prominent educators will be present from all parts of the country. Old students and their friends by the hundreds will take advantage of this opportunity to visit their Alma Mater. Our town will be filled with strangers and we hope that they will carry away with them pleasant memories of the town and its institutions.

The Academy has just been rebuilt with considerable expense and presents an imposing appearance located as it is, in a most commanding position. No one was asked to contribute a cent toward the erection of the building but now there is a movement on foot to raise a sum of money to improve and beautify the grounds surrounding the Academy, and the Bellefonte Republican has promised to lend its assistance to this popular movement by opening a subscription column on February 1, 1905. It is desired through the students patrons and friends—past and present, of the Bellefonte Academy, to raise an amount of money that will enable the improvement committee to so improve the grounds in the front and rear that they will correspond with the beauty of the new building that now stands out in imposing relief on Academy hill.

This paper will open its subscription column on Feb. 1 and all amounts received will be published with the names of those contributing. Send in your contribution be it large or small.

The walks must be changed, the front campus graded properly and the rear campus terraced and sodded and a suitable stone wall built at its base. Flower beds then could be made that would give a beautiful, attractive and pleasing effect; and the whole campus improvement would provide the inspiring environment that the new Academy needs and deserves for the Centennial celebration in June. Now why should not only the students, patrons and friends of the Academy join heartily in such an enterprise but every public spirited citizen as well?

THE FOLLOWING ARE SOME OF THE REASONS THAT APPEAL TO ALL.

The centennial life of educational usefulness of the Bellefonte Academy which boasts of hundreds of successful men and women in every walk of life, who laid the foundation of their success in this worthy institution.

Its influence for culture and refinement which has ever prevailed in the community.

Its industrial character—for it has not only saved many men in this vicinity the expense entailed by placing children in good boarding preparatory schools away from home, but it has brought money in to this town year after year through the boarders who have sought and obtained an education in our academy.

This money has been spent here and there is scarcely a business house in the town and very few professional men who have not reaped a financial benefit through the expenditure of this money. The more attractive we make the Academy as to buildings and grounds, the more students will be secured to spend their money here.

Now the imposing building which has been built up since the fire has risen like a sphinx from the ashes without a cent of contribution from the public. Surely everybody will be glad to reward the faithfulness of the old Academy, as she is about to celebrate her 100th anniversary, by contributing their little offering of good will in order to provide a good fund of the development of the grounds into a condition of which no one need be ashamed, all may be proud.

Collision With a Tree.

Speeding a mile a minute, the Atlantic City express on the Reading Railway was rounding a curve a half mile below Haddon Heights Friday afternoon, when the engineer saw a giant oak fall on the track about 300 yards ahead.

Three men who had felled the tree ran out to wave a warning to the train. But it was too late. The engineer applied the brakes, reversed his lever and sounded a shrill blast from the whistle to bring the crew to quarters.

With the speed thus slightly reduced, the train crashed into the tree. The cow catcher was broken like a pipe stem, but its sharp prow buried itself into the oak and rent it in twain, covering the front of the locomotive with the splinters.

After pushing the tree 400 feet along the rails the train was brought to a stop. While the alarmed passengers poured from the coaches to view the wreck, the three negroes who, in chopping the tree for kindling wood had imperiled the lives of 100 persons, stood by, too frightened to speak. None of the passengers were hurt.

FIVE THOUSAND LEAVE PORT ARTHUR!

Procession of Prisoners Was a Pathetic Spectacle.

OFFICERS WITH MEN

Faces are Seamed With Lines Showing Affect of Great Strain--Felt the Humiliation.

GIVEN EVERY ATTENTION BY JAPS.

Headquarters of the Third Japanese army at Port Arthur, Jan. 6.—Via Yinkow and Tientsin.

Five thousand men of the Russian garrison at Port Arthur were marched from the village of Yahutsui, on the shores of Pigeon bay, for fifteen miles to the railroad station at Changlingstzu, at 3 o'clock, and the other detachment followed soon after. Each detachment was accompanied by six loaded transport carts.

The Russians during the night will be taken on special trains of open trucks to Dalny and there they will immediately embark for Japan on transports now waiting in that port.

The long procession of the remnants of the gallant Russian garrison was a pathetic spectacle. The first arrivals at Changlingtzu were four Droskies, drawn by sorry-looking horses. They contained the staff officers, who had refused to give their parole. All wore their swords, as they were allowed to do under the terms of capitulation compact.

SHOWED RESULT OF GREAT STRAIN.

A few minutes later the first detachment arrived. The regimental officers marched with their men, their heads bowed and their faces seamed with lines, showing the result of the mental and physical strain they had undergone during the long defense.

As the Japanese soldiers crowded about them with evident curiosity, the faces of the Russian officers were an interesting study. All of them appeared to feel their humiliating position keenly and, though some seemed to be resigned to their situation, others were resentful at being regarded with curiosity. The men looked to be well fed, but their faces, like those of the officers, indicated the awful physical strain they had undergone. The officers were clean and well clothed, but the men were clad in dirty looking sheepskin coats and appeared to be resigned and glad that the had come.

The horses drawing the transport carts were suffering with fatigue, though the loads were small. They were tied to the carts and led by orderlies. In the procession were many lean looking pet dogs belonging to the officers.

OFFICERS REFUSED TO WEAR SWORDS.

In many case officers refused to wear their swords, but had them carried behind them by orderlies. The officers saluted the European and American correspondents with the Japanese army and appeared to be both pleased and astonished at seeing the Europeans and Americans there.

The prisoners were treated with the greatest respect and kindness, though they were regarded with much natural curiosity. The soldiers were given food, cigarettes and beer, and the correspondent of the Associated Press even saw Japanese soldiers voluntarily carrying the effects of the prisoners when they were overcome by fatigue. The railway has been repaired and gauge changed almost to the city of Port Arthur, into which trains will enter in a few days.

Telephone and telegraph lines have been completed to the city and already Japanese engineers are surveying the destroyed forts of the eastern fortified ridge.

In the Hotel Business 51 Years.

Peter Meitzler, proprietor of the Hotel Riverside Lock Haven, will entertain his friends at a banquet, Tuesday evening, January 17, from 8 to 9 o'clock, in commemoration of his fifty-one years' service as a hotel man. Landlord Meitzler will no doubt give his friends a fine layout on this occasion, as he did last year.

A SHOOTING AT WADDLE.

John J. Kast Shoots Boy he Caught Climbing in Window.

For sometime past John J. Kast, a butcher living at Waddle Station on the Buffalo Run road, has been annoyed by boys breaking into his house when he was away and by tessing and otherwise troubling him.

He grew tired of this kind of business and on Sunday afternoon about 2 o'clock he caught two of the boys up to their old trick. According to his story, one of them had crawled through the window and the other was outside.

He fired a 32 calibre revolver at one of the boys, inflicting an ugly wound in the hip, The boy proved to be Benjamin Etters, 17 years of age, and he was brought to the Bellefonte Hospital Monday night for treatment. The wound is not a serious one, but it is very painful. He is getting along very nicely and no serious results are expected.

Kast came to town Monday and gave himself up, but no charge has as yet been preferred against him and he was allowed to return home.

THE HUGH BEAVER MEMORIAL.

Andrew Carnegie Gives $1,000 for New Y. M C. A. Gymnasium.

Andrew Carnegie has shown another example of his great kindness and generosity by sending his check for $1,000 to go toward the completion of the Hugh McAllister Beaver Memorial Gymnasium now being erected in connection with the Young Men's Christian Association at this place.

Mr. Carnegie was personally acquainted with the late Hugh Beaver and was numbered among the latter's warm friends.

This is certainly a very graceful tribute on the part of Mr. Carnegie to the memory of Hugh Beaver and will certainly be deeply appreciated not only by General and Mrs. Beaver but by the entire community as well.

There is now no doubt about the completion of the plans for the new Y. M. C. A., and it will probably be ready for occupancy inside of ninety days.

Former Bellefonte Girl Married.

The Lock Haven Express, of Saturday, said: "Mayor John T. Copper and Mrs. Isaac Lose, of 314 Bellefonte avenue, received telegrams this morning from Elmira, N. Y., stating that Harry W. Copper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Copper, and Miss Mary M. Lose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Lose, were married in that city Friday evening at 6:30 o'clock. Mr. Copper and Miss Lose left this city Friday afternoon on the Flyer, leaving their parents and friends under the impression that they were going to Williamsport to attend the play 'Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall,' by Miss Bertha Galland, at the Lycoming Opera House. On their failing to return Friday evening suspicion was aroused as to their eloping. Inquiries were instituted as to their whereabouts and it developed that they did not stop off at Williamsport and the dispatches Saturday morning explained the situation, The elopers are expected home this afternoon and will be forgiven by their parents.

"Miss Lose is a charming young lady and her marriage will be a surprise to her many friends in this city. Harry Copper is one of our popular young men." Miss Lose was formerly of Bellefonte.

Women Who Wear Well.

It is astonishing how great a change a few years of married life will make in the appearance and disposition of many women. The freshness, the charm, the brilliance vanish like the bloom from a peach which is rudely handled. The matron is only a dim shadow, a faint echo of the charming maiden. There are two reasons for this change, ignorance and neglect. Few young women appreciate the shock to the system through the change which comes with marriage. Many neglect to deal with the unpleasant drains which are often consequent on marriage and motherhood, not understanding that this secret drain is robbing the cheek of its freshness. As surely as the general health suffers when there is derangement of the health of the delicate womanly organs, so surely when these organs are established in health the face and form at once witness to the fact in renewed comeliness. Half a million women and more have found health and happiness in the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

CZAR TALKS WITH ADVISERS!

Discussing the External and Internal Situation.

THERE IS PEACE TALK

But Nothing Has Occurred to Indicate That Russia is Prepared to Depart From Her Intention to Continue War.

THERE ARE NO PROPOSALS FROM JAPS.

St. Petersburg. Jan 9.—2:10 a. m.—The conferences which Emperor Nicholas has been holding with members of the council of the empire, M. Vitte and other ministers and advisers on the international and external situation have not yet been concluded, but nothing has occurred which would indicate that the government is prepared to depart from its present programme of continuing the war to the bitter end. Nevertheless, talk of peace was heard Sunday in many quarters, the foundation for it being ascribed to Foreign Minister Lamsdorff's alleged position in favor of such a course on the ground that aside from the humiliation to military prestige involved, it would only mean the relinquishment of Manchuria, to which Russia already is formally pledged. There is no confirmation of thie statement of Count Lamsdorff's position beyond the general knowledge that he has always belonged to the peace party. It is quite probable that the peace talk gossip has been produced by the arrival of foreign papers as it receives no encouragement in responsible quarters here.

The belief which existed in exceptionally well-informed diplomatic circles that Japan would follow the fall of Port Arthur with moderate peace propositions has not been realized. Up to the present time nothing has reached the government, either through the United States or other channels. Diplomats here cannot figure out the general lines of a treaty at this juncture which both the belligerents could accept, but realize that if Japan makes any sort of offer unless it is rejected outright as not entertainable negotiations would be opened, and negotiations once entered upon, friends of both parties could use their good offices to bring about terms. This is the only hope for a termination of the war which diplomats can see.

Solemn service in honor of those who fell in the defense of Port Arthur were held on Sunday at the Kazan cathedral and the Troitka monastery. The services passed off without demonstration of any sort. Neither the emperor nor members of the Imperial family were present. A requiem was held simultaneously in the chapel at Tsarskoe. Selo.

Although Field Marshal Oyama took pains to formally communicate the news of the fall of Port Arthur to Gen. Kuropatkin, the announcement has not yet been made to the army in Manchuria, or at least no mention of such an announcement is made in dispatches from the front of the manner in which the news was received there. One curious dispatch spoke of a big celebration of New Year's day along the Japanese lines, the Russians evidently mistaking jubilation over Gen. Stoessel's surrender for New Year's festivities.

Former Houtzdale Man Commits Suicide

After locking himself in his room in the house of Marshall McKendrick, in Johnstown, where he had boarded for the past six months, Peter Swamp committed suicide Wednesday by cutting his throat with a razor. He had been acting strangely of late. The dead man came from Houtzdale six months ago. He is known to have had a good bank account and to have sent money regularly for the support of his family in Houtzdale.

The funeral was held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. E. R. Heckman officiating The Lord hath given, the Lord hath taken; the baby is safe in His care.

Agitation Goes On.

Philadelphia Press: The development of railroads is largely responsible for our dirt roads persisting with their primitive defects to the present day. The idea of good, hard post roads, built by the Federal Government, had scarcely taken root and begun to bear fruit when the steam railways become interstate post roads and the United States Government went out of the business of road building.

The new good roads movement has the sympathy of railroad managers and the active assistants of some of them. The National Good Roads Association has enlisted the services and assistance of several important railways in its campaign of education. The South is the favorite field for this sort of exploitation. A special train carries the machinery for sample road building here and there. If the people accustomed to bad roads can see for themselves what a good road is and what it means they want good roads. The first train of this kind in next year's work will leave St. Louis on January 8, over the Missouri, Kansas and Texas system on its educational campaign. On January 20 and 21 a good roads convention will be held in Jacksonville, Fla., in which it is expected that Governors of States and presidents of railways will unite to further the cause of good roads.

The railways are interested in good roads because the latter acts as feeders of the railways. They develop the territory through which they are built and increase the productive capacity by greatly diminishing the cost of marketing its crop. Immense sums are wasted every year in every State in the unprofitable work of hauling heavy loads through mud and dust and over heavy grades. Albert P. Brigham, in the latest issue of the American Geographical Society's Bulletin points out that the highway experts of Maryland estimate that the bad roads of that State represent a loss in useless expenditure of force to the extent of $3,000,000 a year. He tells us that it costs about one billion dollars annually to haul the farm products of the United States, and of this sum $600,000,000 or nearly two-thirds, are wasted in the energy expended in overcoming the resistance of bad roads. He holds, very naturally, in the light of these facts, that the $20,000,000 expended annually by England and Wales upon their roads and the $37,500,000 expended by France is true economy.

Pennsylvania has set an example of this same wise economy, but its road law is defective in that it requires too many people to be convinced and won over before the road building begins. The road movement in the South has for its objective point the National treasury. They want Uncle Sam to resume the business of road building which he dropped some seventy-five years ago. That may come, but it is a good way off. Those States will first reap the enormous benefit of good roads which go ahead and build them by State and local appropriation without waiting for overburdened Uncle Sam to take up this line of national expenditure.

A Surprise Party.

On Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Garman, a surprise party was given their daughter Margaret, by two of her school friends, Misses Hazel Cook and Nellie Stevens, it being her fourteenth birthday.

Miss Margaret was invited out for dinner on Saturday evening and when she returned she was greeted by about twenty laughs and shouts which took her so suddenly that she did not recover from her surprise for some time. Games were played and after delightful refreshments were served the young people returned to their homes unanimous in the opinion that they had the best time in the new year.

Those present were: Misses Hazel Cook, Nellie Stevens, Mary Hicklen, Harriet Bullock, Nellie Conley, Alice Lowry, Bernice Faxon, Margaret Walsh; Eva Sharpe and Margaret Garman. Messrs. Isaac Chambers, Don Snyder, Earl Wood, Don Merriman, Daniel Irvin, Montgomery Bair, Thomas Morgan, Melvin Wood, Arthur Beezer and Daniel Garman.

Good Tendency of Township High School.

State Superintendent of Public Instruction Schaeffer has a good report in his annual report of the township High school. It has the tendency of interesting the youth in the rural districts in higher education and thereby causes them to be more contented with life in the country. With better schools, improved roads, the rural mail delivery, and telegraph and telephone systems in the rural districts, there will be a greater desire to live in such districts and they will be developed nd improved and pop ulated accordingly.

THE BELLEFONTE TRACTION CO.

Proposed New Trolley Line to State College Likely to be a Go.

The proposed new trolley line which the Bellefonte Traction company proposes to build to State College gives every indication of being a go. The towns to be visited by this new company are Milesburg, Bellefonte, Pleasant Gap, Lauvertown, Lemont and State College. This shows that the road will pass through a community having a population of from 12,000 to 15,000 people to draw from. A survey has been made and the steepest grade encountered anywhere is but little over 9 per cent. The road will be 18 miles long and the estimated cost of construction and equipment will be $15,000 per mile. The company is composed entirely of Centre county people and includes the following: President, J. C. Meyer; secretary, Robert F. Hunter; treasurer, John I. Olewine; directors, J. Price Jackson, John I. Olewine, L. E. Reber, Robert F. Hunter and J. Will Conley. A charter was granted the new company by the Secretary of the Commonwealth on the 9th of Dec. and already much work has been done towards securing the franchise of right-of-way in and through the various boroughs and over the roads in the various townships through which the line will pass. The ordinance presented at Monday night's meeting of council, in this place, was the first step towards securing the right of way through the streets of the town. A similar ordinance was presented to the Milesburg council and one also to the State College council, while the supervisors of Boggs, Spring and College townships have been seen and all have signified their willingness to do everything possible and within reason toward giving the company a free franchise.

An option has already been secured on the Green mill property, at Milesburg, and if a thorough test will show a development of sufficient horse power the main power house of the company will be located there. An agreement has also been made with the Nittany Light, Heat and Power company," a new organization recently chartered at State College, for the furnishing of the necessary power needed at the southern end of the line, so that it can readily be seen that the Bellefonte Traction company has as its object the early construction of the road.

The route of the line will be in the main as follows: Beginning at a point near the centre of Milesburg, south along the road to the red school house, then over the Shoemaker hill and in Allegheny to Curtin street; east on Curtin street to Armour; south Armour to Linn; west on Linn to Allegheny; south on Allegheny to Bishop; west on Bishop to Spring and thence by way of the old Lewistown pike south through Axe Mann to a point near Pleasant Gap; and thence southwest through Lauvertown to Lemont and from there to State College.

Deserted Church.

Surrounded by shade trees stands a deserted church in the village of Seven Points, and arrangements are now under way to sell the edifice and convert it into dwelling houses. Up to the time of the Dubb-Esher fued among the Evangelical church followers this house of worship always boasted of a large congregation and it was a prosperous parish. Over two thousand of the congregation left the church and built a new edifice on the opposite side of the road. The remaining few members kept up worship until one by one they moved from the village and finally not a member was left. The church doors were locked and now the Evangelical Association, who owns the property, by the decision of the courts, has decided to sell the property.

Glad He Was Sorry.

The "Random Notes" man of the Bradford Era gets off the following:

In Ridgway a man bet a dollar on the result of a bowling contest in the Y. M. C. A., alleys. Betting is in violation of the rules and the man published an apology in one of the local papers. "In this community, among other things, he said: "I am very sorry I did what I did. I do not wish to do anything to injure the association and I am very glad and willing to say I am sorry for what I did and trust that this explanation will satisfy all concerned."

In other words, the man is glad that he is sorry and is sorry that he has reason to be glak under such circumstances.

It is certainly a sad case.

THE MYSTIC MISTLETOE.

Once a Feature of Pagan Rites, It Now Belongs to Lovers.

From time immemorial the white berried mistletoe has played a leading part in Yuletide festivities, though it has not always conveyed the osculatory privileges which give it its value in the eyes of the romantic youth of today. Like so many other features of the Christmas celebration, mistletoe has been borrowed from the pagans of antiquity and Christianized by the lapse of centuries. The Persians before the birth of Christ used the mistletoe in their sacred rites, and in parts of India pagan priests still incorporate it in their ritual. It figures largely in Scandinavian mythology. Baldur, the son of Odin, though a demigod, was slain by a spear of mistletoe, a proof of its magic powers.

It is from the Druids of old England, however, that mistletoe has come to us. The Druidical priests, sprung, it is said, from the magi of the east, the wise men who worshiped at the cradle of the infant Saviour, held the mistletoe as their most sacred possession, and the cutting of the pretty parasite from the oak, the tree which the Druids claimed God loved more than any other, was attended with the greatest solemnity. On the Druids' festival day a grand procession, leading two white oxen, moved to the mystic grove. There the oxen were fastened to the oak by their horns, and a white robed priest climbed into the leafless branches and cut the bunches of mistletoe with a golden knife. The oxen were then sacrificed and religious services performed, after which the procession returned to the temple in the forest and the mistletoe was deposited in the Druidical arcanum.

Besides taking its place in the religious observances of the Druids, the mistletoe, which the priests gave a name meaning "all healing," was made into many curious decoctions by processes in which times and seasons and incantations were supposed to add to its mysterious powers. These medicines were regarded as cures for human ills generally, whether of mind or body.

With the advance of civilization and the death of superstition mistletoe has lost its religious character, but not its popularity, and the forests of England and of our own southern states are as eagerly frequented by mistletoe gatherers as ever were the dark woods of the ancient Druids.

CHRISTMAS IN SWEDEN.

One Day When There Are Neither Rich Nor Poor.

If you were in Sweden on Christmas eve you would hear the church bells begin to ring at 5 o'clock, for everybody stops work then and the festivities begin in great earnest everywhere in the kingdom. Class distinctions are forgotten and servants are allowed to sit at table with the family. After supper comes the universal Christmas tree, for Sweden is one of the early homes of this beautiful custom.

On Christmas morning at 6 o'clock, while it is still dark, you would go to church, for everybody goes, unless you stayed at home to mind the lights in the house, for every home in the kingdom is illuminated. There is almost sure to be a deep snow, and you would go to church in a sleigh. Behind every sleigh you would see two boys standing on the runners and holding pine torches—a beautiful spectacle as a long procession of sleighs glides over the snow on a forest road. These torches are stuck up in a circle around the church. A whole week is given to good cheer and hospitality.

CHILDREN'S WORK.

Properly Devised, It Is a Great Aid In Training.

Let every child have some certain work to do, and let him distinctly understand that such work is to be done without a word of whimpering.

Do not allow the habit of procrastination to creep in, for this is one form of self indulgence that will surely undermine the character of the child. Every child should be taught to wait upon himself and at least keep his toys and playthings in their proper places. One wise mother, whom I have always admired for her beautifully trained children, allowed but one plaything at a time, and when the child was weary of this toy he was required to pick up every block, place each one in its box, put on the lid and hand it to his mother. A new toy was then given to the child, and this in turn was replaced before another was given.

It is a good plan to have some low drawer devoted to the use of the child, and as soon as the little one can toddle let him place in this drawer on his return from an outing his cap and such of his belongings as he can handle. In training your child let him learn most positively that yes means yes and no means no, and you will have taught him a lesson that will prove of great value to him during his whole life and will form a character that will strengthen as the years go by.—Table Talk.

NATIONAL ELECTION DAY.

Why It's the Tuesday After the First Monday In November.

Why should the law prescribe "the Tuesday next after the first Monday in November" instead of saying "the first Tuesday?" Like many other small things this provision introduces an interesting picture of the past.

Although the constitution requires the electors in all the states to meet and choose a president on the same day, it was not until 1845 that a law was passed by congress providing that the electors should be chosen on the same day throughout the United States. When William Henry Harrison was the Whig candidate, in 1840, New York began to vote on the first Monday in November, and the polls were kept open until Wednesday night. Election day in Massachusetts was the second Monday, but before that day, in this instance, enough states had voted to decide the contest. The National Intelligencer of that year records that several thousand aged and infirm Whigs in Massachusetts did not bother to go to the polls.

Delaware voted a day later than Massachusetts. Illinois, Indiana and Pennsylvania were among the early voting states. Alabama was one of the last. This diversity, combined with slow methods of transmitting news, left the election results in doubt for many days.

The system was not satisfactory. The states that voted early had an undue influence on the result. Especially was this true as communication became more rapid, and by 1840 an enthusiastic editor told how the news from Pittsburg had been brought to New York in thirty-five hours. "This," he added significantly, "is a sign of the times."

Congress accordingly decided to establish a uniform day. The original bill named the first Tuesday in November, but it was found necessary to harmonize this with the requirement that not more than thirty days should elapse before the meeting of the electoral colleges in the different states, which had been set for the first Wednesday in December. When Tuesday is the first day of November, December will have no Wednesday till the seventh. The interval is thirty-seven days. Under the law as it was passed in 1845 not more than twenty-nine days can elapse between election day and the first Wednesday in December. Under the law of 1887 the electors do not meet to give their votes until the second Monday in January.—Youth's Companion.

BONE STRUCTURE.

The Compact and the Spongy Kind and Their Strength.

Bone is of two kinds, compact and spongy. As the result of careful experiments it has been shown that compact bone is twice as strong as oak, considered simply as building material. In the shaft of a long bone it is in reality much stronger than this, for it is arranged on the advantageous principle of the hollow pillar, which gives the fullest resisting power with the least possible expenditure of substance.

The delicate layers and bars of spongy bone are arranged on the principle of an arch, enabling very considerable pressures to be resisted. It was found that a cubic inch of this tissue taken from the lower end of the thigh bone and weighing only fifty-four grains was quite uninjured by a dead weight of 448 pounds.

The curved bones which roof in the skull are constructed to resist great pressure, while they check the transmission of shocks to the brain. Arranged in the form of a dome, they consist of compact bones, with a spongy layer between. These are known as "tables" of the skull. The outer and inner tables are immensely strong, while the middle table serves as a buffer by which the force of blows is distributed.

$500 Reward For Women Who Cannot Be Cured.

Backed up by over a third of a century of remarkable and uniform cures, a record such as no other remedy for the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women ever attained, the proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States, for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

"I used four bottles of your 'Favorite Prescription' and one of 'Golden Medical Discovery,'" writes Mrs. Elmer D. Shearer, of Mounthope, Lancaster Co., Pa., "and can say that I am cured of that dreaded disease, uterine trouble. Am in better health than ever before. Everyone who knows me is surprised to see me look so well. In June I was so poor in health that at times I could not walk. To-day I am cured. I tell everybody that Dr. Pierce's medicines cured me."

PRISON FIRED BY RIOTERS!

Great Confusion in Interior of Czar's Dominions.

KILL CHIEF OF POLICE

In the City of Warsaw—Japs Sink Five War Vessels of Russians at Port Arthur.

LATEST FROM THE FAR EAST.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 7.—The greatest confusion reigns in the interior of the empire. The chief of police at the head of the Warsaw department has been killed and at several places near Kharkoff rioters set fire to the prisoners.

It is stated on the best of authority that the battle of the Shahke river is about to be resumed, by the Russians taking the offensive. The report current yesterday morning in this respect says that at a meetingof the council of ministers yesterday it was decided that an immediate attack should be made on the forces of Field Marsnal Oyama.

TOKIO, Jan. 7.—The naval department announces that the Japanese at Port Arthur have sunk the following Russian war vessels in that harbor: Torpedo boats, the Gaydamak and Fusatonik; torpedo boat destroyers, the Setirny, Sisik and Boevoi.

The armored cruiser Bayan is lying on the south coast of the harbor severely damaged and the gunboat Bobr is entirely burned as the result of the Japanese shelling.

Gen. Stoessel and the other Russian officers who will leave Port Arthur on parole will return to their homes via Nagasaki.

The Russian battleships sunk at Port Arthur have not yet been officially inspected. The portions of those destroyed by the Russians at the last moment seem limited to the parts above water. As there are no signs of interior explosions it is hoped that the damage done to them will be repariable. The decks are partially destroyed and filled in, the gates also being damaged. The great crane is intact and serviceable.

General Stoessel and General Nogi met Thursday and had a conference. At the conclusion of their talk they shook hands.

At Port Arthur with the Third Japanese Army via Fusan, Korea, January 6—Only 80 Russian officers have accepted parole. All the regular Russian troops have marched out of Port Arthur and will leave for Port Dalney today.

Japenese troops entered the city yesterday to keep order. Non-combatants are allowed the option of remaining.

The Japansse navy is removing mines and the Japanese hulks at the harbor mouth.

All the forts have been taken over by the Japanese.

Log Train Ran Away.

A fatal log train wreck occurrred in Potter county a day or two ago. When a logging train was descending the hill above Berch Flats, the engineer lost control of the train and it started down the hill at a terrific speed. All the train crew jumped in time to save their lives except Del Moyer. When it was discovered that the train could not be held by the engine, one of the trainmen called to Mr. Moyer to jump, but he evidently did not hear and an instant later the train left the track. The train crew hastened to where they had seen the unfortunate man fall, and found him crushed and bleeding beneath two heavy logs. When they removed the logs he was dead. He was undoubtedly killed instantly. The remains were taken to Galeton to Earl White's undertaking parlors.

The deceased, Hiram Adelbert Moyer, or "Del," as he was better known among his friends, was 23 years of age. He had been married about a year and leaves a wife. He lived in Galeton. He was a member of the order of Railway Trainmen.

THE ACADEMY CENTENNIAL.

To be Celebrated on the 15th and 16th of June.

The movement for the celebration of the centennial anniversary of the Bellefonte Academy on the 15th and 16th of June was thoroughly launched Friday evening at a meeting in Gen. Beaver's home which was attended by all the members of the centennial committee with one exception. Those present were Gen. Beaver, Judge Orvis, Col. Reynolds, Capt. H. C. Quigley and Prof James R. Hughes.

The sub committees were designated and the chairmen selected as follows:

Committee on speakers—Gen. Beaver, chairman.

Program—Judge Ellis L. Orvis.

Finance—Col. W. Fred Reynolds.

Decorations and Music—Capt. H. C. Quigley.

Invitations—James R. Hughes.

Memorial Record of Centennial Proceedings—J. Thomas Mitchell, Esq

Assembly—Edward L. Hoy.

Athletics—Wilson Gephart.

These chairmen will select the membership of their respective committees at an early date.

The men named to lead these important committees promise the people of this vicinity the most delightful occasion, intellectual and social, that the town has ever had

It is sincerely to be hoped that the efforts to be made in the next few months to beautify the Academy grounds in a way that will afford a fitting environment for the new building will be heartily supported by the community. A large number of prominent educators from this and adjoining states will attend the celebration in June, and we want the building and the grounds to present as fine an appearance as possible, that the visitors may carry away with them the most favorable impressions of the Bellefonte Academy.

The Bellefonte Library.

The Bellefonte Library has been removed from the Y. M. C. A., building to the rooms of the W. C. T. U., in Petrikin Hall, where it is hoped a permanent location has been found.

The word "Library" is used in connection with this book club advisedly; for the club, has, for many years, performed the usual office of a circulating library in furnishing to the community the better class of current fiction, biography, travel and general literature. No attempt has been made to secure books of reference or to add to its list current books the standard works of the past. Indeed the slender support given the organization has made it impossible to do much that those in charge desire, even in the way of current literature. The scope and usefullness of the Library could be greatly enlarged by a modest addition to its income, and attention is called to the following facts

Although for many years located in the chapel of the Presbyterian church the Library has no affiliation with any religious or benevolent organization.

Any one may become a member by the payment of twenty-five cents per month or three dollars per year. All subscriptions are applied directly to the purchase of new books there being no expense for salaries or rent.

Subscribers have the privilege of taking out one book every week, and additional books may be had, if desired upon payment of a small fee.

The Library is open every Wednesday from 10 to 12 a. m., and from 4 to 6 p. m. There are now more than 2000 volumns on the shelves and additions are made, by the purchase of new books, monthly.

This library has conclusively demonstrated its superiority to the several out of town projects for supplying books, and the managers earnestly invite a larger measure of public support. The Librarian will receive subscriptions on every Wednesday during the hours stated.

No More Suffering.

If you are troubled with indigestion get a bottle of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure and see how quickly it will cure you. Geo. A. Thompson, of Spencer, Ia., says: Have had Dyspepsia for twenty years. My case was almost hopeless. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure was recommended and I used a few bottles of it and it is the only thing that has relieved me. Would not be without it. Have doctored with local physicians and also at Chicago, and even went to Norway with the hopes of getting some relief, but Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is the only remedy that has done me any good, and I can heartily recommend it. Every person suffering with indigestion or Dyspepsia should use it. Sold by Green's Pharmacy.

SCIENTIFIC MISCELLANY.

Our Working Capacity—Drawing Made Easy—Gums a Germ Product—Chemistry of Hair Beauty—Power from Capillarity Hypherometry—Electrically Improved Flour—The Slowest Heart.

The new science of "psycho-mechanics" has received attention in France from Dr. Charles Fere. He finds that a man has a greater capacity for average than for either intense or feeble work and that one's powers very greatly with mental conditions. Contrary to general belief, mental work does not rest one physically tired, or vica versa. Capacity for work increases to a certain dezree with heating of the head, light has a stimulating action and darkness depresses; even colors have influence, while sounds have a complex and variable effect; and odor and taste stimulate and then depress to a greater degree. Digestion diminishes muscular work. Most nerve poisons—opium, bashreesh, valerian, alcohol, tobacco, coffee, tea, etc.,—produce transitory stimulation which is followed by depression, diminishing the total work.

The perspectartigraph of Otto Eichenberger, of Geneva, is claimed to make accurate perspective easy for the amateur artist. A folding box opens to form a table, and near the top of its extensible sides a telescope is so mounted that as it is moved about in following the details of any view a pencil is made to draw a corresponding line on a sheet of paper. Crossed hairs in the telescope give precision, while the pencil is kept upon the paper by sliding in a suitable holder. Beautiful drawings are made with little practice, and work exhibited includes a panorama of the Alps and a view of Geneva.

Gums are a botanical puzzle. Dr. Greig Smith, of Sydney, has now shown that some are due to bacteria, and he has isolated some species—like that of "arabin"—and made them produce their gums in the laboratory. He suggests that all other gums are bacterial products and that the world's supply might be increased by judicious selection of susceptible trees.

Human heads are characterized by potassic hair, silicic hair and sodic hair in the classification of J. Gaube, a French chemist. He finds blonde hair to contain much soda and much silica; red hair to be very rich in silica, and black hair to have a great deal of potassium, but little soda and scarcely any silica.

A curious motor—not likely to be put to practical use—has been devised by M. Leboyer, a French experimenter. After careful search he has discovered a stone—called the domite of Auvergne—in which water rises by capillary attraction to a height of four inches. Placing two sheets of this stone vertically in a basin of water, he suspends from them pieces of salt peter, soaked fungus and beneath this puts a little wheel with blotting-paper paddles. As the water passes from the stone to the fungus the latter wets the blotting-paper on one side of the wheel causing that side to fall. Evaporation then lightens the lower part of the wheel while another portion is made heavy by wetting, rotation being thus set up, the rate varying with the state of the atmosphere.

An attempt to give scientific expression to the degree of agreeableness of a climate is being made by Capt. W. F. Tyler, F. R. Met. Soc. of London. Concluding that our sensation are chiefly influenced by temperature and humidity, he has coined the word "hypher" to indicate the joint effect and represents a perfectly pleasant day as 0 on the hypher scale and an intolerably oppressive one as 10. He has succeeded in getting ten persons to make observations through one month. The results indicate that other factors—possibly barometric pressure and electric conditions—have appreciable influence upon sensation and that much training of observes will be needed before trustworthy records can be made.

In the electrical bleaching of flour by the lately patented process of J. N. Alsop, the apparatus consists of two arc lamps in parallel with a coil yielding an 18-inch arc. The arcs are enclosed by tubes and the air in these are electrified, producing a gaseous mixture containing nitrogen peroxide and traces of ozone. The gas is drawn off into a revolving hexagonal drum, where it is thoroughly incorporated with the flour. The treatment not only bleaches and purifies, but is claimed to add to the nutritive quality, analysis showing increased nitrogen.

The case of a healthy man of 61 whose heart beats only 30 times a minute, the normal rate being from 70 to 80, has been recorded by Dr. Seiffert, of Berlin. In another case reported the beats numbered only 22, but the patient was suffering from heart disease.

In a new Hungarian washing machine, electrified water, it is claimed, removes all spots and dirt from 300 garments in less than fifteen minutes, no soap being used.

The Virtues of Vin-Te-Na...

Your knowledge of the workings of the "human machine" no doubt makes you aware of the fact that the nervous system is fed and sustained by and through the blood.

When the blood is charged with the elements which nature designed, the entire nervous system and all the organs are kept in a healthful state.

Without the force which the nerves absorb from the blood, both brain and body are poor machines. Vin-te-na contains just those elements which are wanting in impoverished, poor blood. It was found on both common sense and scientific knowledge. It has conscience and integrity back of it. Vin-te-na is the one medicine that does precisely what it was designed to do, i. e. gives life and nerve-food to the blood. It actually cures every one of those disorders which come from impoverished blood.

WASHINGTON LETTER

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington, D. C., Jan. 11th.

For the first time probably in the history of public charities has the president of the United States interested himself personally and officially in their conduct. This record was made by President Roosevelt Friday when he attended an important conference at the White House with Speaker Cannon, Senator Allison, Representative McCleary and members of the District Board of Charities and discussed with them the control of the local charities. The system of public charities in the District of Columbia is one of the most efficient in the country, but many of its best advisers have considered that it was weakened by the fact that the entire control of all the local charities is not vested in the Board of Charities under the direction of the District Commissioners and that purely private charities are subsidized by Congress instead of being paid under contract for such work as is done by them for the District charities proper. The quarrel is, of course, a local affair, but the question of the proper administration of municipal charities is one in which every city is interested and the attention given it by the president indicates that he will be eager to establish a precedent that will be of assistance in the government of charitable institutions and societies throughout the country.

Visitors to the president these days who are inclined to devise him about appointments of themselves or their near friends to positions or offices are apt to receive rather scant attention. The president, by his declaration through Mr. Cortelyou, that he had no political debts to pay has cleared himself of a pitiless nagging system and he evidently means to enjoy himself to the utmost now that he is relieved of it. He has never had any patience with the oleoginous statesmen who whispered secrets in his ear and his clear and carrying voice was the terror of all who wanted to engage him in private, corner interviews, but now he has even freer range for his candor and he tells his visitors, without evasion, that he selects his advisers as well as his appointees.

A. Marsh of Virginia, called on him a day or two ago and advised an appointment. Before he had finished his story the president informed him that office holders would not be considered as advisers, nor would they be allowed the distribution of patronage.

When it was announced that Mr. Rockhill would be appointed minister to China and his position as directors of South American Republics thereby would be vacated there was a rush to the president with favorities and candidates for the place. He was very courteous, but his answer was unmistakable. He would, he said, appoint to the Directorship a man of his own selection. It is supposed that Chas. M. Pepper, a young newspaper man whom he has had under scrutiny for three years will get the place to which attaches a salary of $5000 (?) and a social position of considerable prestige.

There is a general shaking up apparent through all the departments in Washington and many an inefficient or supernumerous bureau chief is tremblingly awaiting his fate. A number of these have been the recipients of delicate intimations from the Secretaries that their resignation tendered before a certain time would spare them the humiliation of discharge and many of them are hastening to hand in their papers. These berths, it is said, will be in many cases filled by newspaper men for whom the president has developed respect and confidence. During the campaign and during his incumbency of the office Roosevelt has depended more than any other president on the integrity and judgment of the correspondents detailed to Washington, and has come into closer and more intimate contact with them. The result has been that he has formed a high opinion of the ability of several of them and will endeavor to advance them with the hope of developing men of ability similar to Cortelyou.

An Animal Story For Little Folks

Mary's Little Ram

Of course you all remember about the dear little schoolgirl whose mother was not well "up" on names and so called her little daughter just plain Mary and who had the little white, woolly lamb that seemed to insist on going everywhere Mary chose to go?

And how one day, when the lamb wandered into the village school and raised such a fuss that there was pretty sure to be a vacation if things continued, the schoolmaster arrived with a baseball bat and gently requested his visitor to "Shoo?"

But you never heard what that lamb said to himself as he went limping

INTO THE POND HE WENT, HEAD FIRST.

down the road, nursing the spot where the bat hit him. It was something like this:

"You just wait, you mean old thing! I shan't always be such a little, helpless thing. Mother says my horns will grow some day, and I shall be a fine ram and can bat with my head. Then I'll watch for you and get even."

And of course, as the days went by, Mary's little lamb became Mary's powerful ram.

Each day the schoolmaster would walk down the road, carrying his lunch box, and each day Mr. Ram would say to the little lambkins: "See him! He's the fellow I told you all about; mean as dirt. I just wish he'd come over in this lot just a little minute only."

Then one day the schoolmaster was collecting flowers for the botany class and spied some iris growing at the edge of the fence and began to pick the purple flowers. Mary's ram saw him. "Watch me!" he cried to the admiring lambkins. Putting his head between his feet, he started toward the master with an automobile speed. The master did not see him.

"Bang!" they came together. Over the fence went the master, and into the pond he went, head first.

The master rose, dripping and scared.

"Excuse me," said the ram. "Teachers often need to be taught. Good morning!"—Pittsburg Dispatch.

THE FIRST PIE PLATES.

They Were Made by the German Potters of Philadelphia.

The first pie plates were made early in the eighteenth century by the German potters who settled in Philadelphia.

After the clay was prepared it was cut into small pieces by means of a brass wire and taken to the workbench to be made into plates.

The clay was roughly beaten into a flattened form looking like a colossal buckwheat cake. This was rolled out into a thin sheet with a roller much like a rolling pin, and then a disk cutter was used to cut it into circular pieces of the required diameter. This bat, as it was called, was then laid on a board until partly dry and was then decorated.

The slip decoration was applied by means of a slip cup, an earthen vessel with goose quills inserted into the openings, through which the liquid slip was made to trickle over the ware in a variety of patterns, just as icing is applied to cake at the present time. The slip mixture was of a creamy color made of white clay and water.

Favorite motives for decorations were flowers, fruits and scenes, tulips being a special pet.

A Lutheran minister asked his potter to dine with him to discuss designs for a set of plates he wished to order. As the potter was accustomed to dine at 12, he was almost famished when the clergyman's 2 o'clock dinner was served. When the set of plates came home, each with a pious sentiment interwoven among the marginal decorations, the minister laughed to find an extra plate, bearing this inscription: "I have never been at a place where they dine so late." So much for Pennsylvania-German humor.—Philadelphia Ledger.

A Rebellious Actor.

Frederick Lemaitre, the French actor, was playing Robert Macaire in a town of France where two soldiers of the garrison represented the policemen who had to arrest him. In the spirit of his part he gave one of them a vigorous kick. "Ha, we must see to this!" cried the infuriated soldier and promptly knocked Lemaitre into the orchestra. At this there was a terrific din, and the soldier began to see that the vindication of his uniform was not popular. But Lemaitre, when he regained the stage, took the gendarme by the hand and said: "Excellently well done, my friend. The uniform must be respected even in the theater. Come to lunch with me tomorrow and bring your comrade."

A Friendship Calendar.

A friendship calendar as a Christmas gift was a source of much pleasure to an elderly lady living alone, says Good Housekeeping. At her request each one of fifty-two of her friends, representing the fifty-two weeks of the year, furnished material for every day of the seven in his week. Each one followed out his own idea for the week's calendar, contributing favorite quotations, short poems, anecdotes and reminiscences, some even adding cherished recipes. In many instances the contributions were original. Others were illustrated with small pictures cut from current magazines. The result was a perpetual calendar, each day representing the loving thought of a friend.

A Christmas Game.

"Christmas candles" is a good old time game. A lighted candle is placed upon a table. The player is blindfolded and stationed with his back to the candle, about a foot from it. He's then told to take three steps forward, turn around three times, then to walk four steps toward the candle and blow it out. His attempt to do so will probably be as amusing to the audience as disconcerting to himself.—Country Life In America.

The Line Drawn.

Ethel—What do you intend to give me for Christmas?

Bertie—Would a kiss answer?

Ethel (with sarcasm)—No, indeed! Mamma never allows me to accept valuable presents from gentlemen.

Serenity of Temper.

One sign of mental health is serenity of temper and a self control that enables us to bear with equanimity and unruffled temper the petty trials and jars of life, especially those arising from contact with scolding, irascible, irritating folk. It is well to remember at such times that these unfortunates are their own worst enemies, and a cultivation of the art of not hearing will help us very much. It is a very useful art all through life and well worth some trouble to acquire.

that bills seem to jump on a man, they come in such numbers and so frequently.

Cold weather, of course, may cause a greater consumption of coal but perhaps the coal is poor and tons of it must be used to get up even and ordinary heat.

Not so much with this Coal of ours. It neither flies up the chimney in smoke nor drops through the grate as ashes. It burns slowly and makes things red hot while burning.

YOUR MORNING DRAM.

Let It Be a Glass of Water and Enjoy an Inside Bath.

Drink a glass of water when you get out of bed in the morning. Never mind the size of the glass. Let the water be cold if you will. Some people prescribe hot water, but that isn't necessary. You may have washed your face already and relished the experience. You may have taken a cold plunge into the tub and delighted in the shock and its reaction. The brisk use of the toothbrush has left your mouth clean and the breath sweet. But you are dirty still.

Drink a glass of cold water and enjoy the sensation of being clean inside. All that is luxurious in the cold bath cleansing the outside is artificial. That which should prompt the glass of water after sleeping is natural.

Drink a glass of cold water in the name of cleanliness. It becomes one of the shortest and easiest of toilet duties. It is swallowed in a second, and in five minutes it has passed from the stomach, taking with it the clogging secretions of the alimentary tracts. It has left behind the stimulus that goes with cold water, and, by filling the arterial system to the normal, it puts a spur to the circulation that has grown sluggish in the night.—Chicago Chronicle.

THE BRIDE'S PORTION.

At One Time It Was Stated In the Wedding Announcement.

It was a common custom in the eighteenth century, especially during the reign of George II., to insert notices of marriage stating the bride's portion in contemporary periodicals and newspapers both in England and Scotland.

Almost every number of the Gentleman's Magazine at that time contained several of these records, of which the following, in 1731, is a specimen: "Married, the Revd. Mr. Roger Waina, of York, about twenty-six year of age, to a Lincolnshire lady, upwards of eighty, with whom he is to have £8,000 in money, £300 per annum, and a coach and four, during life only."

Sometimes the notice merely describes the bride as a lady with a "good portion" or a "genteel fortune." One of the latest notices was in Aris' Birmingham Gazette, July 14, 1800, which recorded the marriage of Mr. Canning, undersecretary of state, to Miss Scott, "with £100,000 fortune."—London Telegraph.

Effect of Women In Business.

Instead of the business world suffering from the advent of women, it is the home that is suffering from the age long defection of men. If it is true that every occupation has its masculine side and its feminine side, then it is true of the domestic occupations as well as of those belonging to the world of business, and it is evident that the home will suffer from an undue predominance of one element over the other.

That our homes are not running smoothly; that flats and boarding houses multiply and divorces and nervous prostrations, instead of proving that women ought to stay at home and set things right, may well mean that women need the fresher air and wider spaces of the business world, the relief of doing things on a big scale, the calming effect of working impersonally. Business hours may be—and I think are—unnecessarily hard for a woman, but at home she has no hours at all. Her work, as the old saw has it, is "never done." I met a young woman recently who said that she had never known good health until she went to work in a downtown office and was obliged to keep regular hours.—North American Review.

Individuality In Vegetation.

The vegetation covering the slopes of European mountains as well as that on the great snowy peaks of the American cordilleras and other ranges has an individuality, a character, of its own, striking even the most indifferent of tourists. In this flora all is dwarfed and on a small scale. The flowers alone, of relatively exaggerated size and generally brilliant in color, seem to be abnormally developed. The manner of growth of these plants is a surprise to those ignorant of their history and the cause of their peculiar appearance. While in the lowlands large plants, with spreading branches and well developed foliage, generally have flowers smaller than the leaves, the reverse is true in the higher regions.

Another easily noticed peculiarity is that while the Alpine flora in sunshine shows flowers of great size and vivid coloring, as the gentians, auriculas, anemones and violets, in the shade, on the other hand, we find them small and weak in color. Thus the action of the sun's rays on vegetation at great elevations seems to be more intense than on the plains.

GODPARENTS.

An Ancient Institution, Doubtless of Jewish Origin.

We must doubtless look to the Jews for the origin of godfathers and godmothers. The use of them in the primitive church is so early that it is not easy to fix a time for their beginning. Some of the most ancient fathers make mention of them, and through all the successive ages afterward we find the use of them continued without any interruption. By a constitution of Edmund, archbishop of Canterbury, 1236, and in a synod held at Worcester, 1240, a provision was made that there should be for every male child two godfathers and one godmother and for every female one godfather and two godmothers. King Henry VIII., referring to the Princess Elizabeth, says:

My lord of Canterbury,
I have a suit which you must not deny me—
That is, a fair young maid that yet wants baptism.
You must be godfather and answer for her.
—"Henry VIII.," Act 5, Scene 3.

A constitution of 1281 makes provision for a Christian name being changed at confirmation. This is practically a renaming of the child. The manner in which it was done was for the bishop to use the name in the invocation and afterward for him to sign a certificate that he had so confirmed a person by such new name. It is possible that this practice might have been in Shakespeare's mind when he wrote:

Call me but love, and I'll be new baptized.
Henceforth I never will be Romeo.
—"Romeo and Juliet," Act 2, Scene 2.
—Westminster Review.

Tired of Being Fired.

Peter was a good workman, but he would go on sprees. His employer was lenient, but when Peter turned up after having been absent for a couple of days without leave he discharged him. But Peter did not take his discharge seriously and went back to work as usual. Again he went on a spree, and again he was discharged and taken back. These little escapades had been repeated four or five times within a couple of years, when Peter walked into the shop one morning looking much the worse for his celebration. "See here," said the employer, "you are discharged." "Look here," said Peter, "I am tired of this. If I am fired again I'll quit the job." And he went on about his work and has not been "fired" since.—Philadelphia Record.

Some London Streets.

In some of the older and narrower streets and alleys of London may be seen at each end two upright posts. At first it might be supposed that they served no more useful purpose than affording material for children to swing on. But they are used to indicate that the streets which are guarded by the posts are closed to wheeled traffic. Some of the thoroughfares in the poorer parts of London are so narrow that a large vehicle would do serious damage if it were driven along them, and as they are generally short cuts would be much used were they not protected.

When to Exercise.

When to exercise is an important consideration. If the morning only is available the exercise should be light. Particularly is this the case if one is engaged in any work. The supply of energy must not be drawn from at the beginning of the day. The afternoon is perhaps the best time for exercise, when one has gained strength from the absorption of the morning and noon meals. Those who exercise vigorously at night should eat a midday dinner. Exercise should always precede bathing and not, as a rule, follow it. In this respect the ancient Greeks showed great wisdom. Exercise and bathing they called the two pillars of strength. Exercise was Hercules and bathing Apollo. Both were regarded with equal importance, and neither was complete without the other.

No Longer on the Map.

"What makes you so late?" asked Tim's father, who in the boy's absence had had to see to the evening chores himself.

"Teacher kept me in."

"What for?"

"'Cause I couldn't find Moscow on the map."

"Couldn't find Moscow? And I'd like to know who could, then! Why, I remember hearing tell of Moscow being burned when I was a boy! It's an outrage to put such nonsensical questions to children what's there to learn something useful. I'll look into that and let yer teacher know I ain't been elected on the school board for nothing!"—London Globe.

Ingenious.

"Jimmy," said the teacher after reading the youngster's "note from his father" excusing Jimmy's absence from school the day before, "it seems to me your father's writing is very much like yours."

"Yes," replied Jimmy, unabashed, "father ain't had no education, and I'm learnin' him."

Taking Care of the Pennies.

Pincher—I believe in that old saying about taking care of the pennies. You know it, don't you? Spenders—Oh, yes! "Take care of the pennies and the dollars will take care of your heirs."—Philadelphia Press.

Good Training.

Miss Sightseer (in Egypt)—Mr. Newrich, you scale up these rocks as if you'd been climbing pyramids all your life! Were you bred in the mountains? Mr. Newrich—Oh, no! but I carried a hod up a two story ladder for a good many years before I struck oil.—Detroit Free Press.

License Refused at Beech Creek.

The application of Harry T. Cole of Loganton, for a licensed hotel in Beech Creek, has been refused by the court of Clinton county. This ends one of the most hotly contested fights in that borough for a long time, and the decision meets with the favor of 90 per cent. of the residents There has not been a licensed hotel in this borough for almost 18 years and the opposition to the application made this year was everwhelming. The sentiment generally throughout the entire community was strongly against the granting of the application, and the judges are receiving words of commendation on all sides, since even the applicants's supporters realize that the decision was given on the merits of the evidence and representations. The remonstrance was not made as a personal fight against Mr. Cole, but was made against the introduction of a licensed saloon into Beech Creek borough and community, where it evidently was not needed and was so vigorously opposed by the majority of the citizens. Beech Creek has been known as a temperance town and the present contest just decided attracted wide spread attention and the outcome was watched with interest throughout Clinton and Centre counties and farther.

The question was so hotly contested on both sides and each side brought all possible pressure to bear, that it is the general opinion that this latest decision settles the question on its merits and until the conditions become very materially changed, a licensed hotel will not be introduced into that borough.

Election Wager Paid.

On Tuesday evening the election wager between J. O. McCormick, of Spring Mills, and Samuel M. Ulrich, of Penn Hall, on the late judgeship contest in Centre county, was paid by Mr. Ulrich, the looser, with an elaborate supper at the Spring Mills hotel.

The wager had been for a quarter of a barrel of beer, but before the supper was over an additional quarter barrel was consumed. It was no doubt a joyful occasion for all who had the pleasure of being present and especially the address, by John Smith, who is noted for his oratorical abilities, was highly commended. —Millheim Journal.

Captain Quigley Injured.

Captain James A. Quigley, of Blanchard, had an experience Sunday morning, Jan. 1, while going to the Presbyterian Sunday school, of which he has long been assistant superintendent, which was not very auspicious for the beginning of the New Year. He, his wife and daughter Katharine were in an open buggy and were driving off the bridge across the Beech creek when their horse shied at a white horse which was being watered in the mill race. The right front spindle broke close to the hub and when half way up the hill at Fearon's the captain was thrown out and dragged through the mud by the lines to which he held, to the top of the hill, where the buggy upset by running on the sidewalk and against a stone wall, throwing Mrs. Quigley and daughter into the street. The horse was caught and held and Mr. Quigley who was painfully injured, was cared for in the home of G. T. Furst. Mrs. Quigley and daughter were not injured, but a physician found that two of Mr. Quigley's ribs were torn loose and was otherwise bruised about the body and limbs. He had a complete mud bath. Later the three were conveyed to their home. Monday Mr. Quigley felt very stiff and sore, but is not seriously injured. All three persons had a narrow escape. The accident caused considerable excitement.

Barn and Stock Burned.

The large barn on the farm of Thomas Bechdel in "Pole cat hollow" on Marsh creek was burned to the ground about 7 o'clock Saturday evening. Twelve head of cattle perished in the flames, and two horses were severely burned before being taken out. Several other horses were saved. The season's crops, except the corn in another building, were destroyed. John Confer was the farmer and his loss is heavy. Mr. Bechdel had the barn insured. The origin of the fire cannot be accounted for. The teams which were used for hauling ties to the station in that place had been fed without a lantern being used. The men were at supper when the fire was discovered and it was impossible to rescue the cattle. Many farm implements were destroyed. The barn was insured in the grange. The loss is a hard blow to Mr. Confer, who is reported to have had no insurance.

A hotel man of Bellefoute, says: "I have used Doan's Ointment and know it to be all that it is claimed to be. I tried it for itching hemorrhoids and other skin eruptions and found it to be not only one of the best, but in fact the only remedy that ever gave me any relief. I was in constant torment for years with hemorrhoids and anyone who has suffered from this trouble will know how welcome was the relief I found in Doan's Ointment. It cured me in about twenty-four hours. I have not only used it myself but have recommended it in numerous cases and always with the same good results. PEACE ANGEL FAR DISTANT!

Such is the Opinion in Japanese Circles.

FALL OF PORT ARTHUR

It is Believed This Will Not Materially Affect the Situation Between the Contending Nations.

WHAT JAPAN IS PREPARING TO DO

St. Petersburg, Jan. 6.—It seems now to be definite that Vice Admiral Rojestvensky's squadron will not attempt at present to reach Vladivostok. The decision has been reached that he will await the third Pacific squadron, on which work is proceeding night and day, and several ships which are expected to be ready for service by the end of January. It is by no means certain that Rojetvensky will return with his ships to European waters; he may await the third squadron off the coast of Madagascar and seize and make his base one of the uninhabited coral islands of Polesnia.

In view of the report that the Japanese intend to invest Vladivostok, Gen. Batiavoff, who has been interviewed, has expressed the opinion that if Vladivostok should be blockaded, Rojestvensky would be compelled to return.

Many interesting incidents in connection with Port Arthur, heretofore carefully concealed, are now common property. When the projected cruiser Boyarin was lost by going on the rocks, her captain, Sarytchoff, was subjected to considerable criticism. He appealed personally to Emperor Nicholas for mercy, saying that if forgiven, he would sacrifice his life for his country. Thereafter Captain Sarytchoff volunteered on every occasion for dangerous duty. He commanded the gunboat Giliak at Kinchow, and later a shore battery at Tiger's Tail. Afterward the captain engaged in frequent sorties from the fortifications, but seemed to bear a charmed life and received not so much as a scratch.

Tokio, Jan. 4.-(Evening.)—The weight of opinion in Japanese official circles seems to be against a belief in the early securing of peace and doubt is expressed that the fall of Port Arthur will materially affect the situation.

One of the several officials who discussed the question with the correspondent of the Associated Press today, voiced the sentiment of the majority, when he said:

"We are confronting a situation which continues to be purely military. The present problem is created by Gen. Kuropatkin's army and by the Russian Second Pacific squadron. We are devoting all attention to them.

"We anticipate that the Russians will fight more determinedly than ever in their efforts to drive Field Marshal Oyama back and they will strive to gain supremacy at sea. We are preparing to defeat both these objects.

"The situation makes talk of peace futile."

The following report was received from Gen. Nogi at 3 o'clock this afternoon:

"Our minute investigation was not finished until Tuesday night.

"The total number of inhabitants is about 35,000, of whom 25,000 are soldiers or sailors. The total number of sick or wounded is 20,000.

"Common provisions and bread are plentiful, but there is a scarcity of meat and vegetables.

"There are no medical supplies at Port Arthur. The Japanese are strenuously succoring the people.

"The capitulation committees are pushing their respective works."

Every family should keep it as it is an invaluable household remedy, and should always be kept on hand for immediate use." Mrs. Samuel Gage, of North Bush, N. Y., says: "I had a fever sore on my ankle for twelve years that the doctors could not cure. All salves and blood remedies proved worthless. I could not walk for over two years. Finally, I was persuaded to try DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, which has completely cured me. It is a wonderful relief." DeWitt's Hazel Salve cures without a scar. Sold by Green's Pharmacy.

NAVAL HERO AT REST.

Was a Former Student at the Bellefonte Academy.

The Logansport Journal of December 10 contains the account of the death of a young naval officer who was a former pupil of Rev. James P. Hughes at the Academy and is known to students of that institution. The account is as follows:

With none of the pomp of naval hero's funeral—with only the silent loving tribute of many friends who mourn him the funeral cortege of Lieutenant Morris Brown, U. S. N., will find its way today to Mt. Hope cemetery, his remains finding interment in the family plot, instead of in the sea he loved so well and which he often told companions he expected to be his grave.

In a coffin draped by loving classmates who graduated from Annapolis with him and wearing the uniform he honored, he will be laid to rest, the bier heaped high with floral tributes from those who knew the young lieutenant's courage or his loyal friendship.

Rev. E. S. Scott, former pastor of the Presbyterian church, will read the funeral sermon at the home of Brown's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Brown, 1112 Market street. Few, save the relatives, will bear the last rites. Rev. Scott came from Winona to officiate. He will be assisted by the present pastor of the Broadway church, Rev. Johnson.

All day long, and far into the night, the home of the Brown's was visited by friends of the late lieutenant. Mrs. Brown is nearly prostrated with grief. Her husband and son, Harry, returned yesterday forenoon from Washington, D. C., with the casket. As it was lifted from the train, men stood with uncovered heads in the bleak air while the honorary pall bearers bore it to the hearse. That was the silent tribute of affection which Morris Brown, a Logansport hero, had won even from those who knew him slightly, by deeds of courage in his country's cause.

Morris Brown's life was a direct forfeit to his devotion to duty. His health was undermined by long sojourns in Asiatic waters from which he had never asked to be released. When he strove to prepare himself for an examination that would advance him still further in the service, he broke down. He died in the room of a friend at the Providence hospital in Washington. The night before, he had seemed in excellent health. He was found next morning with life extinct only a few instants before. His fellows in the service took upon themselves the duties of preparing the remains for shipment and when Brown's relatives reached Washington all had been done, to the slightest detail. A dozen friends of the lieutenant, men who had served in foreign waters with him, who had noted his courage under fire and his diligence in duty in time of peace begged to be permitted to accompany the remains to Logansport as a naval escort. Their offer was gently declined, and, failing in this tribute, they draped the casket with the flag for which Brown had given his life in time of peace as cheerfully as he would have done in time of war, heaped the bier with memorials and consigned it to Brown's father's hands.

Morris Brown was born in Logansport in 1876. His early education was acquired in the Logansport public schools, at the Bellefonte Academy and at 18 he passed the entrance examination to the Naval Academy, Annapolis. His academic life and standing was of the highest, and his graduation with honor.

Through the war with Spain he served under Admiral Schley on "Fighting Bob Evans'" flagship, the Texas, as an ensign, and was subsequently sent cruising through Eastern waters. He was about to be assigned to land duty on passing the examinations this month.

Pretty Home Wedding Solemnized at Salona.

A very pretty home wedding was solemnized at 6 o'clock Wednesday evening at the residence of Benjamin Krape in Salona, when Miss Bessie A. Krape, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Krape, became the wife of Wade H Cruse, of Bellefonte. The ceremony was performed by Rev. I. J. Reeser of the M. E. church, in the presence of the immediate friends and relatives of the contracting parties. A fine repast was served after which the happy young couple boarded the train for Bellefonte where they will reside.

The bride and groom are both popular young people and have the best wishes of a host of friends.

Report from the Reformed School.

J. G Gluck, Superintendent, Prunytown, W. Va., writes: "After trying all other advertised cough medicines we have decided to use Foley's Honey and Tar exclusively in the West Virginia Reformed School. I find it the most effective and absolutely harmless. For sale by C. M. Parrish.

CASTORIA.
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

A Hero of Lake Superior.

Few acts stand out more heroic than that of Capt. James Jackson, who won everlasting fame in the wintry seas of Lake Superior. The owners of the freighter W. F. Sauber sent her out from Duluth with one last load of iron ore, with Capt. W. E. Morris in command. It was late in November and winter was setting in with a number of fierce gales from the north. Off Whitefish Point the Sauber was caught in one of these storms. All one night she weathered the gale but with morning there came a blinding sheet with the fierce wind and intense cold that froze the spray as soon as it touched the ship. All that forenoon one might have supposed it was night, with the sun a pale moon above. During those hours the "little ice devils" began to weight the Sauber down. The crew attempted to clear away the ice as it froze and lighten the ship, but no human being could live in the storm. Upon the lakes, just as upon the sea, there are many strange things that happen. On that day there were just two vessels on Lake Superior, and fate decreed that they should meet off Whitefish Point. While the men on the Sauber were preparing for death, the steamer Yale was tearing her way through the gale toward the Soo; and passing within an eighth of a mile of the Sauber, Captain Jackson sighted the sinking ship. Then occurred that act which won for him a gold medal, and a heavy purse contributed to by half of the seamen of the lakes. Although at the time Captain Jackson was having a hard time in keeping his own vessel above water, he immediately brought his vessel to. For hours the vessel continued to toss in the trough of the sea, which was too heavy for small boats to attempt to rescue in. Night came, and the vessels drifted within a stone's throw of one another. The Yale was comparatively free of ice, but the heavily laden ore boat was sinking inch by inch. With the coming of morning, when the Yale might have been safely in port, it was found that she, too, was gradually settling, and that the Sauber would not live an hour longer. Captain Jackson at once called for those men who were willing to risk their lives in an attempt as rescue, and went out himself in the first boat. If bravery was ever rewarded, it was then. Every member of the Sauber's crew with the exception of the captain was carried to the Yale.—January Woman's Home Companion.

Lawson, Sincere? Reserve? Pure?
Lawson.

"The sincerity, reserve, pure consciousness, desire to help the public and not himself, and the utter moderation of Lawson," says Collier's for December 31, "would arouse the ethical enthusiasm of the hardest cynic. He is like Wordsworth's violet by a mossy stone, half hidden from the eye. He is a primrose. His modesty, as Fielding expressed it, is a candle to his merit. He and animals are far from kin. Truth is his, in all its candor. He is honest as a sunbeam. His heart beats with the virgin earnestness of a girl. Hear the tones of reverence, even worship, in which he was wont to write to H. R. Rogers. It was a trifle more than a year ago, and he had just heard that Rogers was not going to let him be 'ground up.' Lawson writes: "If I was on my dying bed and never had done any good act in my life, my entire life, but one, and that one making a fellow-being feel as I feel now, I would die happy— I know you will say it is only business, but I don't care what it is or may be to you, I only know that I have been in such misery of mind and you have turned it to happiness. Please don't lay this foolishness up against me, I can't help it. As a boy I was brought up by a good, sweet mother, and she taught me early to thank God when I was happy, so while I am doing it let me ask him to bless you for just the happiness I have now. Yours with a full appreciation of his littleness and your great bigness.—Lawson.' Readers of 'Frenzied Finance' will find here the same chaste style that wins our trust in Mr. Lawson's present incubriations, whether delivered in telegrams on the market, in periodicals, or in bellicose communications to Colonel Greene. The only harm that Mr. Lawson's pipe dreams do is that they bring discredit on some of the more literal and exact revelations about corruption that have been creating the demand for inside information, the demand for which Mr. Lawson took such prompt advantage to create a corner in the limelight."

Every Two Minutes

Physicians tell us that all the blood in a healthy human body passes through the heart once in every two minutes. If this action becomes irregular the whole body suffers. Poor health follows poor blood; Scott's Emulsion makes the blood pure. One reason why is such a great aid is because it passes so quickly into the blood. It is partly digested before it enters the stomach; a double advantage in this. Less work for the stomach; quicker and more direct benefits. To get the greatest amount of good with the least possible effort is the desire of everyone in poor health. Scott's Emulsion does just that. A change for the better takes place even before you expect it.

The Christmas Star.

Hugh B. Feidler, Williamsport's enterprising boy publisher, who several years ago started a small monthly paper, that was bright and sparkling from its very first issue branched out in his December number into Magazine form. It consists of a hundred pages replete with a literary feast that is very attractive and interesting. This is the product of a wide-awake boy's brains and energy and as such is an object lesson to the youth of our land. Williamsport is justly proud of young Feidler and Bellefonte can claim a share of pride in this young man's success for he is a son of James A. Feidler, and a former Bellefonte boy.

The Christmas edition of the Star was 600 copies and it is meeting with a ready sale. We understand the magazine form is to be kept up and we wish the Star and its publisher abundant success and prosperity.

Will Meet in Bellefonte.

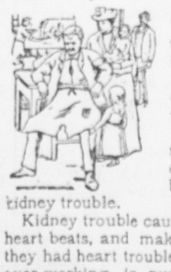
The School Directors association of Centre county will meet in annual convention in the Court house, at Bellefonte, on Thursday, January 19th, at 10 o'clock a. m., having three sessions, closing on Thursday night.

The services of Dr N. C. Schaffer, state superintendent of schools of Pennsylvania, and Superintendent James M. Coughlin, of Wilkesbarre, Pennsylvania's most eminent educators, have been secured for this meeting, and they will be present at each session during the day.

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes.



The kidneys are your blood purifiers, they filter out the waste or impurities in the blood.

If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work.

Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries.

It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

BRIEF MENTION

Short Items of Local Interest Gathered By The Way Side

—There is a cold wave coming this way,

—Lots of hay coming to town these days.

—Business men report trade quiet since the holidays.

—The next day of national importance will be "ground hog day."

—All kinds of stock should be well cared for this kind of weather.

—The Presbyterian Mite Society are going to give an old-fashioned concert in the near future.

—Isaac Dawson has been appointed a tipstaff at the court house to succeed Thomas McCafferty who resigned.

—A little daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Luther Smith of West Bishop street on Saturday afternoon. Accept our congratulations.

—Mr. and Mrs. John Watson, of East Lamb street, are rejoicing over the arrival of a little daughter. We extend our congratulations.

—Charles L. Fravel, of Hublersburg, and Miss Eliza C. Lannen, of Mill Hall, were married Saturday afternoon at Lock Haven by Alderman E. K. Parsons, of that city.

—Mr. S. Kline Woodring and family, on Wednesday, moved from the Cruse home on east Linn street te the double house on east Curtin street owned by Mrs. Harriet T. Kurtz.

—William Walker, son of Mrs. Eliza Walker, has been seriously ill for the past few days. He underwent an operation at the Bellefonte Hospital and is reported as getting along as nicely as could be expected.

—Mr. A. A. Dale was unfortunate in having a bad fall on High street, Tuesday evening, by which he had a couple ribs broken. Though pretty badly used up he made his appearance the next day as usual and has been around ever since.

—Mrs. Kurtz has placed a handsome monument in the Episcopal cemetery, of Lewistown, to the memory of her late husband, John L. Kurtz. The design is plain but substantial in accordance with the taste of Mr. Kurtz. It is made of mill stone point granite and is one of the handsomest monuments in the Lewistown cemetery.

—On Wednesday Judge Ellis L Orvis handed down a revised set of rules pertaining to the acceptance of candidates for the reading of law, their examination and final admission to the bar. One new rule provides for the making of the Board of Examiners a Board of Censors as well whose duty it shall be to inquire into and keep constant tab on the conduct of every member of the bar. Of course there are no Centre county lawyers whose conduct will need any inquiring into.

—A sledding party from Bellefonte were pleasantly entertained at the home of Miss Jessie Way at Waddles. Those comprising the party were: Misses Helen and Edna Hamilton, Lou Housel, Violet Irvin, Helen and Bernice Landis, Jennie Lose, Elsie Hendershot, May McMullen, Marje Richard. Messrs. Chas. Moran, Harry and Mac. Waite, Francis McGovern, Ed. Gingher, Chas. Knapp, Chas. Martin, Fred Landis, Joe Gniesewhite, Boyd Nolan, Joe McGowan. The party returned at the wee' hours of morning.

—McCalmont & Co., have decided to give up their present location in the Bush Arcade on the first of April and move their store and entire headquarters down to where their coal yard is located near the old glass works site. This move will not only enable them to do away with an enormous annual expenditure for rent, etc., but will be an economy in the matter of the clerical force as it will not then be necessary to have an extra set of clerks at the coal yard office as everything will be run from the one office.

—Mike Meehan, collector for the Singer Sewing Machine company at Shamokin, as he stepped into his carriage the other day dropped his pocket book containing $200 or more cash. He did not miss it until he got to the Eagle hotel and then thought he would never recover it. He drove slowly back and when he got to the house where he had made his last call he alighted and began searching about the gutter. A nine-year-old lad, Walley Zaroskie, saw him and asked him what he was looking for, and upon being told replied, "Wait, I'll get it for you." Meehan was overjoyed and gave the boy $5 and promised to give another next week. He noticed the boy was poorly dressed and told him to buy himself a suit of clothing, but the boy replied, "No, my father is dead and my mother is very poor and I give her all my money to buy things to eat."

—We would be pleased to hear oftener from our correspondents in the adjoining towns.

—Prof. D. O. Etters is already in the field as a candidate for the election of County Superintendent of public schools this year.

—Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Dukeman, of this place, are just now the happiest mortals in Bellefonte, all because of the recent arrival at their home of a nice little girl baby—the very first.

—A mission by the Paulist Fathers will open in St. John's Catholic church Sunday February 19th, and continue two weeks. First week is for Catholics and the second week non-catholics. They are able speakers and should be be greeted by large audiences.

—Jesse Cox, who conducts the pool room and restaurant in the McClain block is installing an acetylene gas plant in the building back of his store and by this means will light the pool room and restaurant in an up-to-date manner. Mr. Cox purchased the plant from Frank Clemson.

—Burgess Walker in another column issues a proclamation forbidding coasting on High street. This is commendable on the part of the Burgess as coasting on this thoroughfare is certainly dangerous to life and limb. Some of the worst coasting accidents that we have ever had in Bellefonte occurred on High street.

—The Central Railroad company propose, in the near future, to erect a new station at Mackeyville. The building is designed to contain a waiting room and also a freight room, both commodious enough to accommodate the traffic. This will be quite an accommodation to the people of that little burg.

—Miss Sarah Bigler, daughter of W. D. Bigler, of Clearfield died at her home in that place Wednesday morning, Miss Bigler was 24 years of age at the time of her death, which was caused by spinal meningitis, followed by an attack of pneumonia The deceased was an art student of considerable ability, besides being prominent in the social affairs of Clearfield.

—Arthur McNitt, who is employed at the McNitt Brothers lumber job near Hecla Park had the misfortune to have his left lez crushed below the knee on Friday afternoon. He was moving some heavy logs when one of them accidentally rolled against him with the above result. He was attended by Dr. Fisher, of Zion, and Dr. Huston, of Clintondale.

—Mrs. Sarah McDowell, aged 81 years, and three months, died on Monday evening Jan. 2, of old age and dropsy, at the home of her only surviving son, William, four miles east of Jacksonville. Funeral was held Thursday at one o'clock from the house. Services were conducted in the United Evangelical church at Jacksonville by Rev. D. A. Artman. Interment in the Presbyterian cemetery.

—Tuesday afternoon five or six couples were invited to the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Rankin to dinner. Among them were Dr. J. E. Ward and wife. About 9 o' clock in the evening Mrs. Ward became so seriously ill that a couple physicians were summoned and remained with her for some time. It was found inexpedient to remove her to her own home and so she was put to bed at Mr. Rankin's residence. Wednesday her condition was still serious but we are glad to say that she is now resting better.

—Last Monday night Jan. 2, Bradly Herr of Monument, drove down to Eagleville to attend the Christmas exercises in the Baptist church. He put his horse in Rev. Wests' stable and left the buggy stand outside. After the exercises were over he went to hitch up to return home, he found the buggy gone, and with the aid of a lantern tracked it down to Marsh Creek, where it was standing along the road and was terribly cut up and destroyed. The parties who did the act are suspected, and will be closely watched until the other party are sure of their men, when the law will take hold of them and give them what they deserve.

—Boyd Evans, of Tyrone, has just carried off honors at New York, which proves him the best pigeon fancier in the United States. He exhibited eight of his pigeons at the New York Pigeon, Poultry and Pet Stock show at Madison Square Garden, and won the seven best prizes awarded. Mr. Evans entered four cocks, two blues, one red and one white, and four hens, one blue, one red and two silvers. For cocks, he won the first, second and third prizes. His largest bird measured forty-one inches wing measure, weighed two and three-quarter pounds, and scored 92½ points. Mr. Evans claims to have the largest white runt in America. The distinction accorded Mr. Evans' pigeons is a remarkable one. There were only two first prizes to be won at the great New York show and he captured both of them. He had all the United States and foreign countries too, against which to contest. Poultry and Pigeon show week at Madison Square Garden attracts thousands of people from all parts of the country. Blue ribbons won there have value as well as honor. Prices obtained conclusively demonstrate that fanciers want the best birds and are willing to pay high prices for them.

—Coal is king just now.

—David Thomas, the alleged robber and jail-breaker, pleaded guilty before Judge McClure at Lewisburg Monday and was sentenced to eight years in the Eastern penitentiary.

—The first basket ball game of the season will take place in the Armory on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock between the Willlamsport High school and the Bellefonte Academy. There should be a large attendance.

—A woman hobbled into a clothing store in Altoona Friday on a crutch and offered to sell a package of court plaster having printed on it an appeal for help. She had a crooked ankle and said she suffered from rheumatism. She was handed over to the chief of police with the result that her measure and photograph were taken, after which she was ordered to leave the city.

—The Greenwood Furnace in Jackson township, Huntingdon county, which for a century has had the reputation of furnishing a superior grade of charcoal iron, a few days ago closed down in definitely. Jackson township still has an abundance of excellent iron ore but wood for charcoal has become scarce and the expensive methods of transporting the product to market makes it impossible to continue the business with profit.

—About 7 o'clock Monday evening a colored boy named Walter Gross was struck by a cutter loaded with coasters which had just come down from Reservoir hill. The accident happened in front of Krumrine's drug store. Gross was sliding at the time the cutter struck him. He was knocked off his sled, and rendered senseless and they carried him into the drug store where he soon revived. Fortunately no bones were broken and his injuries ionly consisted of a few bruises.

—In a quarrel among several Italians employes of the clay works at Patton Wednesday, as a result of the continued taunts heaped upon Paul Persosty, who was recently married, one of his tormentors, Toby Pursell, was shot through the stomach and will die. Pursell slapped the groom, who struck back. Then the former pulled out a long knife and went after Perscosty, who ran to his coat, secured his revolver and fired three shots at his pursuer, one of which passed througg his stomach. Perscosty gave himself up.

—John Henry Miller, a farmer from near Lewistown, who has lost his mental balance it is believed through the constant study of the Bible, at Tuscarora on Monday burst into a telephone office proclaiming himself the Messiah and wanted a message delivered to the world. To peacify him the attendant connected him with the exchange operator, to whom he preached for five minutes, while the perspiration rolled down his face. Miller says his mission is to harmonize nations and prepare them for the end.

—There were two runaways on Monday. In the morning Shivery's milk wagon was coming in Water street when the horse took fright and ran away. When in front of the Potter-Hoy Hardware store the wagon collided with a telephone post, upset and spilled all the milk, besides seriously damaging the wagon. The driver escaped without injury. In the afternoon about five o'clock a man named Rockey, who lives up Buffalo Run, was driving along in front of Shuey's store with a horse and sleigh. The single-tree broke in some manner and the horse frightened and ran out Water street at a terrific pace. The driver, however, pluckily stuck to his team and by the time they reached the Phoenix Pumping Station he had the horse under control.

—Two picture agents knocked at the front door of the home of Theodore Alleman, chief of the Altoona fire department, Wednesday afternoon, and when Mrs. Alleman opened the door they stepped in without invitation. They were genteel looking and affiable fellows, but pressed their business beyond the line of discretion. The chief who happened to be in the back part of the house appeared on the scene. An altercation followed and with some effort on part of the fireman both men were forced to walk the line to the mayor's office, the grip of the chief on the collars of their coats being firm and impressive. It cost the picture sellers $6.30 each to get out of the scrape.

—Fred Collins, an Austrian 18 years old, whose home is at Buck's Mountain in Schuylkill county, recently landed at Gallitzin in search of work as a miner. Not securing employment there he started to walk to Glen White Friday, While walking along the road about 2 miles from Gallitzin. two boys approached and ordered Collins to throw up his hands. He refused to do so and attempted to pass the boys, when one of them drew a revolver and shot him in right leg. After the shooting the boys ran away. Collins did not know the names of the boys, but says they were about 16 years old and recognized them as living in Gallitzin. Collins started to walk back towards Gallitzin but was overtaken by a teamster who hauled the injured boy to Gallitzin on his sled. Later he was conveyed to the Altoona hospital.

—Since Anna Helds' famous fencing girls, it has been the desire of every road manager to have a chorus of the prettiest girls obtainable. With this end in view, John Fisher with his "Silver Slipper" spent money like water and the Shuberts with their "Chinese Honeymoon" fairly inflated the chorus girl's bank accounts were they shapely and with a pleasing countenance. It has been a subject of much discussion among the papers of the East, as to what organization had the best chorus and despite the small fortunes Ziegfeld and others have spent with "The Red Feather," "M'selle Napoleon," in which Anna Held is starring and others, the palm for beauty, excellence and merit, goes without a doubt to Nixon & Zimmerman's company in presenting "Miss Bob White" which will be seen here. S F. Nixon, the head of the well known firm, does not hesitate to proclaim this the most efficient and best organized production under his management.

—It has long been held by many that Western Europe, and especially the British Islands and Norway, owe their mild winter climate to the Gulf Stream. Sir Archibald Geikie says: "The Gulf Stream is distinctly traceable by its warmth into the Artic seas. England, clothed in perennial verdure, and Scotland, where grass grows for eleven months in the year, are in the same latitude as the frozen and horrible coast of Labrador," and the difference is mainly due to the Gulf Stream. In the "Leisure Hour" Prof. Gregory treats this belief as a fallacy. He asserts that the mildness of our climate is due to the prevailing southwest winds, without which, of course, we should get the benefit of the Gulf Stream, and that "if the Gulf Stream were diverted at the Straits of Florida we would not experience the slightest change of climate. It is true that the Gulf Stream spreads into a drift in the North Atlantic; but in the opinion of Sir A Geikie tris only increases its efficiency. Perhaps the question is one of degree only, for Prof. Gregory will hardly deny some ameliorating effect of the Stream. Without the Stream our cyclonic depressions would most probably take a more southerly course, as in America, and that of itself would mean in Winter an enormous lowering of temperature."

—A new and simple automatic fire-alarm, invented by a Danish scientist, is said to have done away with many of the defects in the old-style automatic alarms. The apparatus acts only when a sudden wave of heat is generated in an enclosed space, but it is not influenced by a general and evenly high temperature. It is 10 centimeters (3.94 inches) high, 7 centimeters (2.76 inches) broad, and 2 centimeters (0.78 inch) deep. It can therefore be easily fixed anywhere. It consists of a small glass tube bent in the shape of a capital U. This tube, the ends of whichare closed, is half filled with mercury, the other upper half containing a highly volatile liquid—for instance, sulphuric ether. One of the upper parts of the glass tube is surrounded by a cover of some non-heat-conducting material, so that a sudden rise of temperature affects only the other, or free, part of the glass tube. In case the temperature rises evenly the whole apparatus is affected, and no warning signal is given. If, however, the temperature in the room is suddenly raised, as by the outbereak of a fire, the ether above the mercury in the glass tube, which is unprotected, evaporates, and the pressure of the generated vapors causes the mercury to sink in the tube while it rises in the opposite part. Both parts of the tube are fitted with an electric wire and melted into the glass, so that when the mercury stands equally high in both tubes the electric current passes through and the apparatus remains silent; but should a movement of the mercury take place because of a sudden rise of temperature, the electric current or contact is materially impeded,
